You've got a desktop
 You've got a laptop
 You've got a handheld
 And you've got wireless

You've got software
 You've got hardware
 You've got shareware
 And you share pier to pier

You've got access
 You've got options
 You've got power
 But you feel powerless

Feels so connected
 Yet disconnected
 Chronic loner
 and suicidal

Pick up the gun
 Load the slugs
 Point the barrel
 Pull the trigger

Monitor smoking
 Hard drive frying
 Smoke is rising
 Modem writhing

And in the hay field
 You build a bonfire
 Of all your hardware
 And all your software

And all your neighbours
 they come and admire
 bring computers
 to feed the fire

Analog revolution day one.

The machines do the work and so the machines get the rewards - slaves didn't.
